Business Process
> This relates the document to the HMS system. Many documents relate to several Business Process categories but the majority of the MyHal documents are categories with the Develop Solutions category under "Execute and maintain Business."

Content Type
> These are classifications of information that help filter the type of content. For example, sales and marketing material is typically not to the same technical level as a procedure or policy would be.

Customer Assets
> Well location identifiers. This category is not ready for general use.

Customer Challenges
> This is the root problem that a customer faces. Anything that is a service in our price book is not challenge. Challenges are generally reservoir and environment-related.

Delivery Agent
> This is for limited use only. For content which is used for or delivered via CMS to other internal or external IT applications, special websites, and other programming tools. For example, E-Docs or SAP. Does not apply to intended audiences, such as a department or PSL.

General Subjects
> General subjects are academic, scientific and skills focused. Most of what we do has some foundation in these basic subjects.

HSE
> Categories of Health Safety & Environment. Note that the HSE facet actually contains HSE categories of information.

Languages
> This is the language a document is written in. Use multiple terms if it contains more than one languages.

Locations
> These are "places on earth" that are generally well known to everyone. Although we may think of NWA's as a place, they are really just a collection of Locations.

Oil and Gas Well Tools and Components
> These are the downhole tools that are used to perform services or make up products. Note that a 6" bit is a tool.

Oil, Gas, Chemical, Lubricant
> These are the chemicals, additives, etc that make up the chemical services we offer.

Organization
> A collection of people organized in PSL & sub PSL groupings. Our customers do not generally care about our internal organizational setup.

Other (Materials and Equipment)
> These are basic materials like cement & salt; as well as items that are purchased from others like pumps, trucks and cables. Most of the surface equipment falls in this category.

Product Groups
> These are high-level Services or high-level (large category) Products that a customer understands. Sub Categories of Product Groups are smaller groupings of services or Products. For example, "Drill Bits" is a product group and "PDC bits" is a subcategory of Drill Bits.

Trademark Product Names
> Licensed and un-licensed names of Halliburton products and services.
